JOHNSON SENTENCED.

For the Second Time for Maggie Johnson's Killing.

OTHER COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Quarter Sessions Cases Disposed of This Week—Gentlemen of the Jury—Johnson's Case Will Be Appealed to the Supreme Court—Common Pleas.

For the second time since the stubborn struggle for his life was begun, Charles Johnson, twice convicted of murder in the first degree, faced Judge A. C. Fanning in quarter sessions court Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and was sentenced to die. Bolstered up by the confidence of his counsel, William Wilson, young Johnson displayed little nervousness, and in reply to Judge Fanning's formal question, declared his innocence of the crime. Only a small crowd was on hand, as the hour of Johnson's appearance in court was not generally understood.

In connection with the crimes committed at Macedonia, Sept. 18, 1904, Charles Johnson was tried for murder, and convicted by a jury in December, 1904. He was sentenced to death the following July (1905.) In response to application, a new trial was ordered by the supreme court and Johnson was once more defended by Attorney Wilson in May last. He was again convicted, which brings the case up to yesterday when he was again given the death sentence. Attorneys Lilley & Wilson now declare their intention of appealing the case which has become of wide interest legally. Locally the matter has become a shunned subject and little interest is displayed; the belief in Johnson's guilt being quite general.

Other court matters Tuesday were the dispositions of the following calendar cases:

EIMIRA NAVIGATORS WRECKED.

Charles Westlake and Barto Bascome Overturned Near Quarry Glen Club.

Charles R. Westlake and Barto S. Bascome, two well known Elmira young men will hold in memory their canoe trip of the Summer of 1906. In an attempt to pass through the riffs in the Susquehanna opposite the Quarry Glen club house, the youths were thrown from their 16-foot canoe, which was overturned, and saved from destruction only through the most heroic efforts of its young owners. As it was, a large part of the outfit was lost, including a new suit case, new suit of clothing, a mileage book and sum of money. The young men were overturned Sunday night, but spent the best part of the next two days recovering their goods.

Messrs. Westlake and Bascome sent their canoe back to Elmira and will not continue the trip, they expected to have gone on to Tunkhannock. They claim that a fisherman told them the river was quite easily navigable by moonlight as far as Towanda, but there are few canoeists hereabouts who would try to run from Athens to this place, except in daylight.

COXTON YARD RUSHED.

Lehigh Valley Is Experiencing a Great Movement of Freight.

Coxton yard of the Lehigh Valley is experiencing a freight rush such as it has not known for months. Every employe of the yard is worked every available minute to keep up with the volume of business that is being handled. For several days past the officials have been barely able to keep up with business and have had considerable congestion. All the regular freight crews are allowed only eight hours lay-off between shifts. This is a decided change from a month ago, when several of the regular crews were placed for a time on the extra list in order to equalize the work. The freight business promises to keep up as at present for some time to some.

The railroaders are having considerable trouble complying with a new order that was recently put into effect. It is particularly hard to live up to owing to the present rush. The new order reads that all trains leaving the yard must have 75 per cent. of air. The previous orders called for 50 per cent. and crews are having much trouble in securing the increased air pressure.—Pittston Gazette.

WILL BUILD ELECTRIC LINE.

T. C. Whalen Has Contract for Pennsylvania & Maryland Road.

Contractor Thomas C. Whalen went on Tuesday to Salsbury, Somerset county, to begin work on a large contract for the construction of the Pennsylvania & Maryland railroad, an electric road that is to start at the Maryland line and extend through Somerset county. Mr. Whalen takes several men from Towanda and will recruit his working force principally along the Lehigh Valley.

The Pennsylvania & Maryland railroad is to be an electric line. It is the company promoted by C. H. Jennings, the well known lumberman, and associated with him are a number of Towanda capitalists. The coal resources of that region are being developed rapidly and business of all kinds is booming.

HIGH SCHOOL ENROLLMENT.

Seating Capacity of the Room Exceeded if Applicants All Pass.

Principal Humphries reports a very large enrollment in the Towanda High school, in fact there are already more pupils than there is seating capacity. Sixty-one pupils have enrolled, and it will be to their advantage to be on hand promptly next Monday.

There will be some few changes made in the work for the coming year, and the teachers are requested, if possible, to consult with the principal during the week at his office in the High school building.

FOR HERO DEAD.

Memorable Dedication Held Last Week at Wysox Cemetery.

OLD 141ST OUT IN FORCE.

Twenty-third Annual Reunion Made Occasion of Unveiling of Handsome Granite Monument in Memory of Colonel Madill, Bradford's Hero.

The throng that gathered in the quiet Wysox church yard Wednesday, Aug. 29, came from all parts of Bradford county and even from points beyond to witness the unveiling and dedication of the handsome granite monument erected to the memory of Colonel Henry J. Madill, of the 141st Pennsylvania Volunteers.

The same Providence that spared the heroe's life through the bitter Civil war, decreed perfect weather conditions, and a more delightful day could not well be imagined. The dedication of the monument took place on the 23rd annual reunion of the 141st, and will be remembered as one of the most notable gatherings of veterans ever held in Bradford county.

The soldiers, in many instances with their families, began to assemble at an early hour in the morning. At 10:30 o'clock in the church was held the annual business meeting at which officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, George W. Kilmer; vice-president, D. J. Sweet; second vice-president, Charles Easterbrooks; secretary, Rev. David Craft; treasurer, John A. Alles.

Impressive Program.

Dinner was served at noon by the ladies to over 150 veterans and friends.

At 2 o'clock President George W. Kilmer called the large assemblage to order, briefly stating the purpose which had brought them together in the historic church yard. President Kilmer then called upon Miss Lucy Sweet, daughter of D. J. Sweet of Towanda, to unveil the monument. After a few words of beautiful sentiment, clearly and distinctly spoken Miss Sweet, with a graceful move drew the cord which raised a large American flag which had draped the monument and the handsome stone with its imperishable inscription stood bared to view. Dr. Stewart of Towanda, offered a fervent prayer. D .J. Sweet made the presentation speech and the address in acceptance, delivered by the Hon. Judge D. W. Searle, was a notable effort.

Judge Searle's Address.

In accepting the handsome memorial Judge Searle said that the counties of Bradford, Susquehanna, Wayne and Sullivan sent thousands of her best men to defend the union and thousands had moistened with their blood that Southland of ours. "We are proud of their records, proud of the men who marched and of the men who led them. The exigencies of the trying situation left little time for drill and Colonel Madill showed equal wisdom in not attempting the impossible; rather, he tried for discipline. The 141st was a green regiment but was placed in one of the fighting divisions; the war record they made is not surpassed by any of the great Federal army."

Judge Searle drew attention to the fact that Colonel Madill mustered out just 44 years ago today.

Dedicatory Address.

The Rev. David Craft, chaplain of the old regiment followed Judge Searle, making the dedicatory address, and so eloquently and feelingly did this well known divine portray the characteristics of his old leader that many eyes were moist and many a veteran wept who had not wept in years.

"Seven years ago," said Dr. Craft, "some of us stood at the open grave of our old hero, and saw all that was mortal of him consigned to the sod; today, we meet to perpetuate his memory, in a material way, so that our children as well as ourselves will be reminded of the part that our state and county took in preserving the union forever. This is the reverse of that gathering at which a great man of his time is reported to have said that he came to bury Ceasar, not to praise him. We come to praise our general, to keep his memory resurrected, and he is worthy our praise. Colonel Madill was wont to blame his Scotch-Irish temperment for the almost uncontrollable emotion he displayed in heroism of the men in his command. But I always suspected that in his nature there was more of Scotch than of Irish. The characterictics of nobleness, earnestness, bravery and unflinching adherence to duty display to me more the elements of Gaelic than of Celtic blood. And I used to think, watching the work of our boys that no commander under Heaven could have made men do what Madill made them; and I doubt if any regiment under Heaven, save the old 141st could have done some of those things if they would." (Cheers.)

Once, when the 141st was in the hardest place in which a foot soldier is called on to serve, that of supporting a battery, while shot and shell tore up the ground in front of them, the general in command asked Madill if he could hold his men where they were; Madill roared back, 'I could hold them in hell!' and this reply reaching the men they shouted from their position, 'That you can, Colonel!'" (Cheers and sobs.)

"At Chancellorsville, the 141st lost more than 51 per cent of its men, and this record was so astounding at Washington that it was thought an error had been made. But at Gettysburg, two months later 76½ per cent. of the remainder fell in the front of the fight! Two hundred brave men stood to hold in check ten regiments of rebels, and they did it, too!"

The last address on the program was made by Hon. A. C. Fanning, who paid a glowing tribute to the commander and men of Bradford county's famous regiment, the One Hundred Forty-first Pennsylvania Volunteers. Judge Fanning is always a forceful and pleasing speaker, and his address at Wysox is said by many to have been one of his best efforts.

CRIMINAL CASES CROWDING COURT.

Bradford Belligerents Bring Bunch of Business Before Justice Meredith.

During the month of August Justice of the Peace John Meredith did a record business in the way of warrants issued, more than 30 offenders being before him on various charges. Since he has been in office, last month's business was exceeded only once, when in one month 13 warrants were issued for one man.

This brought the number above 30 warrants, but the number of different offenders was not so great.

A grist of cases came before Cadi Meredith Monday for disposal, among them being that of John Gahan of North Towanda township, arrested upon complaint of James Kerwin who charges theft or receiving stolen goods. Gahan was held to court on the latter count. Kerwin alleges the loss, through Gahan of a hay fork and tackle.

William Storms was Monday arrested and arraigned before 'Squire Meredith, charged by William Jacobi of Laquin with making threats against the latters' life. Jacobi says he lives in daily fear of Storms. The defendant was cited to appear in court on Sept. 6 and in default of bail was committed.

YOUNG MAN KILLED.

Arthur English of Wellsboro, 21 Years Old Crushed by Maddened Team.

Hurled by a team of runaway horses against a tree and pinioned there by a wagon tongue, Arthur English, 21 years old, son of Lafayette English, of Wellsboro, was fatally injured Tuesday evening of last week.

The young man with two small children, daughters of a neighbor, were in a furniture wagon which tipped over, throwing out the occupants and frightened the horses. Before English could jump away, he was carried against the tree and crushed. He died from internal injuries two hours after the accident.

ONLY FEW OF FAITHFUL

Languid Gathering of Bradford Democrats In Conference.

STEPHEN SMITH CHAIRMAN.

While Short in Attendance, the Convention Was Long on Resolutions—John E. Graham of Towanda the Jury Commissioner Nominee.

The Democratic County convention was not largely attended Wednesday last week but 21 districts answering to roll call, although returns were in from nearly every district in the county. The convention, which is in reality a returning board, and consists of but one person from each district, was largely reinforced by Towandians who turned out to keep tab on the proceedings.

County Chairman N. F. Walker, called the body to order at 1:35, and after the roll call the minutes of a committee meeting held some time ago were read, after which Stephen H. Smith, Esq., was elected chairman of the convention. In taking the chair he expressed his pride in being one of a party which held principles and character above party success, and which can be patriotic enough to nominate men like Hon. Louis A. Emery, Jr., for governor.

Charles M. Hall of Towanda, Joseph Stevens of Asylum, and A. L. Laws of Sayre, were appointed a committee to tabulate the returns of the primary elections; this duty they performed with expedition, reporting that the vote on jury commissioners gave the nomination to John E. Graham of Towanda, who had 396 votes, to 273 case for William B. Packard.

The committee on resolutions, consisting of Dr. E. C. Rishel of Athens, J. L. Rutan of Wyalusing and J. J. Bailey of Burlington, made the following report:

Resolutions Adopted.

We, the representatives of the Democratic party of Bradford county, in convention assembled, declare our views on the present political situation as follows: We most heartily endorse the action, and declarations adopted, and the splendid ticket nominated by the Democratic State convention at Harrisburg.

We highly commend the nomination of Lewis Emery, Jr., for governor, regarding such action, at the present time, as necessary to the promotion of good government. We also approve the course of the Democratic members of congress in steadfastly supporting the reform measures of President Roosevelt, such support having forced a reluctant and tardy acquiescence on the part of many Republican servitors of rapacious monopolies.

Non-partizan political action seems to offer the only immediate chance of relief from the oppression of bad government and graft. The regular Republicans seem to be incapable of comprehending the fact that we have any public ills worthy of mention, and that these ills have, for many years, been growing under the influence of bad laws and from failure to execute good ones. Prostitution of public functions to the use of special privilege has extended to every department of government till the blessings of our great, natural prosperity are largely absorbed by corporations and grafters. In this state of affairs it becomes the duty of all patriotic Democrats to combine with all independents in an effort to compass a salutary change.

We believe that there is no political question of such immediate importance from a partizan standpoint that it should reasonably obstruct fusion between Democrats and reformers of any political organization and that a committee should be appointed to confer with independents, especially Lincoln Republicans, with the view to bring them into harmony and unity of action with us at the coming election.

The reform measures secured at the recent session of congress, under the obstructive tactics of Republican supporters of monopoly, do not reach as far as present conditions require; therefore it is necessary to replace many of the present representatives with men that can be relied on to support additional legislation to the same end, such as may be recommended by the president or presented independently. George W. Kipp has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for congress from this district and as he has expressed strong views in favor of legislation to curb the predatory trusts we recommend him to the consideration of the nominating conferees.

We congratulate the Democracy on the bright prospect of electing the state fusion ticket including the excellent young Democrats whom devotion to principle has kept constant in our ranks when no reward was in sight except a good conscience.

We congratulate all the people on the result of casting aside party and electing an honest state treasurer who uses the funds promptly for the legal purposes intended instead of for the personal graft of the gang. The redemption of the state has begun.

We believe the present system of assessing property in Bradford county introduced in the time of S. W. Buck, deceased, is oppressive, unjust and unequal, in so far as it differs from the equitable mode in use in most other counties of this commonwealth; also because it places too much power in hands of township and borough officers to levy oppressive taxes.

We hail the spirit of the resolution of the Pomona grange, that the state appropriation shall be increased to $15,000,000 for public schools.

Since the fundamental principles of American liberty call for the least interference with private rights, we demand the reform of the present odious fish laws, well styled a relic of the feudal system; these laws make it dangerous for law-abiding citizens to catch a mess of fish; they fill the rivers and streams with fish wardens and state constabulary to hunt down and harass the unwary.

Of these resolutions, the last three, with some others, were offered in open convention by Charles M. Hall, while the committee on resolutions was out. The chairman suggested that the proper place for the same was with the committee, and they were turned over to that body.

Committee to Complete Ticket.

Upon motion of N. F. Walker, the chairman appointed the following committee with full power to complete nominations for county officers—filling the balance of the ticket, or leaving it open, as they may see fit: N. F. Walker of Athens, John C. Piollet of Wysox, Job Griffin, J. A. Decker and Edward Whalen of Towanda.

There being no further business before the convention, adjournment was taken.

BRADFORD COUNTY INVESTORS IN HAITIAN RAILROAD.

Six Per Cent. Gold Bearing Bonds Were Delivered on Saturday.

Subscribers in Towanda and vicinity to the number of 12 to the bonds and stock of the American Haitai railroad, on Saturday received their bonds for the money invested in the enterprise some months ago. The company was promoted by William J. Merrill of Philadelphia, and almost the entire capital was raised in the Wyoming Valley and along the Susquehanna river to this point. The bonds bear interest at six per cent. guaranteed for 50 years by the Haitian givernment. A stretch of over 12 miles of road from the coast has been built, and the company are the owners of vast concessions of mineral and timber rights fro mthe government. Large quantities of mahogany are among the assets.

Subsidiary companies to engage in mining, lumbering and fruit raising on a big scale are being organized.

The officers of the railroad company are G. V. Rommell of Pittston, president; C. S. Knapp of Skinners Eddy, vice-president; Bradley W. Lewis of Laceyville, treasurer; John M. Waring of Wilkes-Barre, secretary.

Charles F. Rockwell has presented to Wayne county an oil portrait of General Anthony Wayne ,after whom Wayne county was named. The picture, which was hung in the office of Register and Recorder E. W. Gammel, was painted by Honesdale's world famous artist, Miss Jennie Brownscombe, in Philadelphia, from the original painting by Peale. Peale painted nine famous generals of the war of the Revolution. General Wayne being one of the number. This work of art was made during the Winter of 1778, while the Continental army was at Valley Forge.

Good Position Goes Begging.

A position in the Technical High school at Scranton is begging for an applicant. There seems to be no local talent for the position which requires a college graduate who can teach freehand and mechanical drawing, also to assist in the wood work department. Several women have applied for the position but the committee doubts the ability of women to make doors and blinds.

The steady advance in prices of all kinds of foodstuffs and wearing apparel during the past five years has been a bonanza of the biggest kind for the agriculturist—the producer—but decidedly tough on the man on a stipulated salary which has not been inflated to correspond with the increase in price of the things he has had to buy. He is, as it were, between the economic upper and nether millstones and as a result is being ground.

An Indiana reader of these notes writes inquiring where a purchaser may be found for ginseng, golden seal and other herbs. While the larger cities usually have brokers who make a specialty of handling these articles in large quantities, the nearest leading wholesale druggist would be the best person with whom to communicate with reference to the sale of such products, and the addresses of such firm or firms can best be got from one's local druggist.

There is no time when selection of potatoes for seed can be done to better advantage than at the time of digging, for the reason that not only size, but the matter of yield as well, should receive attention when the selection is made. While the matter of size can be noted at a glance, the latter characteristic can only be determined when the tubers are dug from the ground. Careful selection of seed in the manner indicated would tend to materially increase the productivity of any variety grown.

One of the best posted dairymen in the state of Iowa is authority for the statement that the newly enacted state pure food law, which makes it a punishable offense to sell or buy impure milk or cream to be manufactured into human food, will give Iowa farmers $1,600,000 more for their butter product annually than they have been receiving, this being due to a raising of the butter standard, which will result in decrease of the "seconds" output and a corresponding increase in the first class and western extras. The change will be noted with no less pleasure by consumer than producer.

We have this year in our home garden a very thrifty golden russet branch top grafted in a Patten's greening which has a hatful of the finest kind of fruit set. The thriftiness of this scion from the time it was set three years ago leads us to think that a fine orchard of russet trees could be got by top grafting Duchess, Hibernal or Patten's greening stock with russet scions the first and second seasons after the young trees were set out. We have Duchess trees which were thus grafted with Grimes' Golden, Yellow Transparent and other scions four years ago, which today are seemingly as thrifty and hardy as could be desired.

HOGS.

Strange as it may seem, hogs, like people, are endowed with temperament. That hog which is always nosing and sniffing about and alert at the sound of every approaching footstep possesses a nervous temperament, and you want to feed him with special reference to furnishing your bacon supply, while that old fellow over there in the corner, that never stirs unless it is to eat, you want to consign to the pork barrel. He has what is called a phlegmatic temperament. The reason for the distinctions made is obvious. For the bacon you want a streak of fat and a streak of lean, and you get that in the first because the fat is all worked off running around, but the second snoozes contentedly all the day long and does nothing but lay on the fat, which is just what is wanted for the pork. Perhaps you have noticed that some hogs lay on more fat than others and have wondered why.

In view of the fact that reports indicate that there will be but 60 per cent of a hay crop, a whole lot of level headed farmers will this year harvest and shred their corn crop, or a good portion of it, and sell their hay, and corn fodder, too, if they have any to spare. The hay crop is shorter than in years, and bright, nice corn fodder is bound to fetch a good price.

In order to make sure that the little one in the home does not get hold of butter color, rat exterminator, fly poison and concentrated lye it is well to keep such stuff out of reach. The inborn tendency of every baby to stick everything it can get its hands on into its mouth ought to be sufficient warning to cause every person in the home to exercise extreme caution in this particular.

A friend of the writer who had an acre of muskmelons which made but a poor stand sowed rutabagas among them about the 25th of July, with the result that there is a prospect now of a yield of 400 bushels or more of the latter vegetable. Where one is alert advantage can often be taken of a situation of this kind and a piece of land made to yield a full return even if the first crop planted is a partial failure.

The other evening the writer's Jersey "boss" got loose and spent the night in a revel in the sweet corn patch. Having eaten all her hide could hold, she philosophically lay down in the midst of the destruction she had wrought, so as not to have to go far for breakfast, and there we found her in the morning. If a neighbor's cow had done the job, $5 wouldn't have sufficed to soothe our indignation. As it was, the increased flow of milk was the only recompense.

It is not only the merchant of the small town who objects to the pernicious mail order system as commonly carried on, but the farmer himself is getting stirred up. One intelligent farmer says that it is beginning to affect the value of farm property, but that is not the worst of it. The daughters and wives are devoting their Sundays to the shopping by mail, trying to get something for nothing by paying the freight bills. When this mail order catalogue business gains such a foothold in the home that it interferes with the moral and religious training, then something should be done.

If any of the readers of these notes have tried or are about to try the experiment of sowing rape in their corn at the time of the last cultivation and in September turning hogs and sheep into the field with a view to fattening them for market we would be pleased to hear from them in regard to the results obtained. One large feeder of whom we read recently will this fall try this method with a forty acre field of corn and rape. He has found that the sheep clean up the weeds and make rapid gain in weight, while the labor of husking the crop is done away, but he gives no figures indicating the definite results of such a system of feeding.

This item is for the small and bright, but sometimes forgetful and careless, boy in the farm or city home who is in the habit of using a gun. The gist of it is that when going through a fence a gun should either be put through first and laid on the ground, muzzle away, or else held firmly in the hand in the same position while one is getting through. The past week a fine little ten-year-old fellow living within a few miles of the writer's home had the top of his head blown off by attempting to crawl through a fence with a shotgun which he had grasped by the muzzle and was trailing behind him. This method of getting through a fence is dangerous in the extreme and in so many cases, as in the one mentioned, is simply suicidal.

SALVATION OF RUSSIA.

An even superficial study of Russian conditions proves beyond doubt that the people of the czar's domain are suffering more from disordered and disadvantageous economic conditions—abject want and starvation—than from a denial of political, social and religious privileges. And yet history shows that the fight for the ballot has usually been a forerunner or accompaniment in the struggle for bread. In this connection it is interesting to note that shortly after the people were granted a representative assembly the Russian government has taken under consideration the setting aside of some $7,000,000 for the immediate relief of destitute peasants, and what is of more vital and lasting value has in view a division of portions of the imperial and feudal domains among the farmers and laboring people of the empire. The salvation of Russia in her present crisis depends more upon giving all her people work at remunerative wages, either in factories or upon the soil, than upon any other single factor. Political rights are bound to accompany economic independence, just as truly as that poverty and ignorance are the handmaidens of tyranny and despotism.

CARE OF ORCHARDS.

We have found out from practical experience in the care of an orchard that not very much reliance can be placed in the statement of some orchardists to the effect that the root borer will not bother the tree after it has attained an age of seven or eight years and the bark gets rough. An inspection of our orchard not long since shows almost as many of the borers at work in the larger as in the smaller trees. The only safe way in the care of the orchard is to keep the grass hoed away from the trunk, the waterspouts cut and to give the trees a careful inspection at least twice during the season. Thousands of trees die every year from supposed sun scald, blight or arboreal heart failure, when the only thing under the sun that ails them is that three or four lusty borers are eating their very vitals out under the outside bark and just beneath or above the surface of the ground. If you have an orchard, whatever its size, look the trees over and dig these chaps out.

HEED THE MORAL.

A little five-year-old made a garden all by herself last spring. It was a little patch about eight feet square out back of the house, and into it the tiny fingers scattered beans and radish seeds. As this was the child's first experience, she watched impatiently for the first green leaves and tendrils to appear. At last she was rewarded. The garden sprang up and flourished, and the child was happy, but one day she went with her mother to visit a friend. While there the child saw a beautiful garden, with long, even, clean, straight rows. She was impressed and compared it with her own garden. With disappointment in her blue eyes, she looked up to her mother and said, "Mamma, I didn't know that the rows ought to be straight." The child's garden is a tangle of weeds now, and she goes there no more. A little direction at first would have saved the day, and there would have been one less disappointment.

A COMPARISON.

A farm which is continually drained by the production of large crops raised with reference to supplying the local or foreign markets becomes in time like the small town which has just been visited by the circus. The farm sends forth its crops without a corresponding return of fertility to the soil; the town parts with its money without receiving a proportionate impetus and growth in business. In the one case the object sought is money, which gives nothing back to the soil. In the other case the object in view is pleasure, which adds nothing to the wealth of the community. Each year that the farm loses its crops the soil becomes that much poorer. Each time that the town has a circus the people have just that much less money to spend for other things.

BINS OF SUGAR BARRELS.

An enterprising farmer that we know of made some good bins to store grain in from sugar barrels. These barrels were placed upon a firm foundation, where they would be secure and above dampness. After the cracks were filled in so as to make the bins mouse proof a heavy, square board cover was fitted over the whole on hinges. These bins were a great satisfaction, in that they were clean and easy to get at, and more could be added if desired with but little work Some day when you have an ambitious fit and get to cleaning up your barn let this idea take root.

It is questionable who is the more miserable, the fellow who is in debt for the eighty he has or the other who wants to go into debt for the next eighty he hasn't got and doesn't need.

These are the days when it is well to be on the lookout for stray curs running around loose. We seldom hear of cases when the well bred, useful dog goes mad. It has something else to think of.

The Coconnut.

Many pagan people regard the cocoanut as of divine origin because it is so useful. It supplies almost all their needs. With its trunk they build houses, with its leaves they thatch their roofs, the fiber of its shell they weave into clothes, the hard wood of the nuts they cut into bowls and saucers, its rind is their food, its milk is their drink, and its narcotic root they dry and smoke.

National Debt Decreased.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The monthly statement of the public debt issued today shows at the close of business Sept. 1 the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $970,360,383, which is a decrease for the month of $3,488,418.

Colonel Theophilus Humphrey.

Col. Theophilus Humphrey's death occurred at the home of George A. Frisbie in Grantville, Kansas, Aug. 31, at the age of 84 years. He was born in Orwell, Pa., Feb. 6, 1822, and his early life was spent in that place. During the Civil war he served in a Bradford regiment. His later years have been passed in different parts of the West. e was a half-brother G. C. Frisbie of Orwell.

HERRICKVILLE.

The Sunday school picnic on Saturday was well attended, and enjoyed. The speaking and singing was well rendered by the scholars. The remarks by Mrs. Rathburn and Rev. Babcock were appropriate for the occasion, and after the exercises there was an interesting game of base ball, played between the team at this place and Rummerfield, resulting in a score of 2 and 1 in favor of Herrickville.

On Thursday last Tommie Reinhart was taken to Sayre for an operation for appendicitis which was performed the same day. At this writing he is doing as well as could be expected. Mrs. Reinhart is staying with him. His many friends will be glad to hear of his improvement as he was a favorite of all.

SOLDIERS KILLED IN RIOT.

Italian Also a Victim of Fight That Ended With Dynamite.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Sept. 3.—Two members of the state constabulary dead, one dying and two others wounded is the result of a riot with Italians at Florence, seven miles from this place. One of the Italians is dead, another is slightly wounded, and two are under arrest, while the house in which the rioters barricaded themselves is a wreck from dynamite used by the troopers to dislodge the rioters.

The dead are: Private John Henry of Philadelphia, shot through the heart; Private Francis Vahringer of Conshohocken, body riddled with bullets and rescued just before the house fort was destroyed; unidentified Italian, shot through the heart.

The wounded: Private Homer C. Chambers of Rochester, Pa., shot through the head and body, having five wounds, mostly buckshot; Private William A. Hullen, of Harrisburg, shot through the right foot; George Felitzsky, aged twelve, son of a rioter, shot through the leg.

Sergeant Joseph Logan of Dubois, who was at first reported among the injured and whose attempt to make an arrest led to the battle, was not hurt.

Cambridge Exceeds Harvard's Time.

Putney, England, Sept. 4.—Paced by two scratch eights, Cambridge did a trial from Putney to Hammersmith in 8 minutes 5 seconds. Harvard in the notable trial of Sept. 1 covered the same course in 7 minutes 30 seconds. The conditions this time were not so favorable, the Cambridge crew encountering a head wind all the way. But against this must be set the fact that Cambridge had the advantage of being paced by strong crews, professionals taking them to the mile post, where a Leander crew took up the rowing and held the Cambridge men all the way to Hammersmith bridge.

TRUST COMPANY ARRESTS.

District Attorney Promises Results From His Investigation.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—District Attorney Bell continued his investigation into the affairs of the Real Estate Trust company, which failed last week. He spent considerable time at the offices of the company questioning several directors and a number of officers and employees.

The district attorney considers his present investigation of such importance that he has decided upon a postponement of the trial for fourteen wholesale ice dealers, who were to have faced a jury, charged with conspiracy in raising the price of ice. In announcing his decision to the court Mr. Bell said:

"I am now making an investigation of the affairs of the Real Estate Trust company with a view of determining what persons are criminally responsible for the looting of the institution. I feel that in the interest of justice I must give the examination my close personal and uninterrupted attention until I shall have made a complete discovery of all the evidence of criminality."

Sufficient evidence of criminality, it has developed, has been discovered by the district attorney to warrant the statement that two or three arrests will be made. Affidavits upon which the warrants will be issued, it is said, have been prepared.

"I cannot mention any names at this time," said Mr. Bell. "I think, in view of what has developed, that the public can pick out the men who may have had a hand in the deals which brought about the collapse of the bank. No man will get away and every person, no matter what his position may be, who is implicated will be made to answer in court."

APPEALS TO TOBACCO MEN.

Taft Says Philippine Trade Would Not Hurt United States.

New York, Sept. 4.—Secretary of War Taft has sent a letter to the management of the tobacco exposition now in progress in Madison Square Garden, in which he wrote that it should be shown "to the members of the trade present at the exposition, what I think can certainly be shown, that the passage of the proper Philippine tariff bill will not in any substantial way interfere with the tobacco trade of the United States."

Mr. Taft added, "The demand for tobacco is so enormous and the capacity of the Philippine Islands to produce it under the conditions of labor, the irregularities of tropical agriculture, and the difficulties of securing capital are such as to make any injury to the tobacco trade of the United States from allowing the Philippine tobacco to come in at 25 per cent of the Dingley rate for three years, and free after 1909, utterly impossible.

"On the other hand, the tobacco interests are comparatively so small in the Philippine islands that to give another market like that of the United States to the islands would add something to the prosperity of the industry in the islands, but, what is more important, it would give to the people of the Philippines a visible, tangible evidence of the interest of this country in the welfare of the people of those islands. This is the most important feature of the bill."

To Quash Rockefeller Indictment.

Findlay, O., Sept. 4.—A hearing on motion to quash the information filed against John D. Rockefeller as the responsible head of the Standard Oil company by Prosecutor David was heard in Probate Judge Banker's court. Virgil P. Kline represented the Standard Oil, and the gist of his arguments was that the Standard Oil company could be criminally prosecuted only under an indictment found by a regularly constituted grand jury. Prosecutor David and his partner, George H. Phelps, argued in support of the informations. Judge Banker reserved decision. A trial will follow should the court sustain the informations.

No Anglo-Spanish Alliance Yet.

Madrid, Sept. 4.—It is considered in well informed circles here that the announcements of the approaching conclusion of an Anglo-Spanish alliance are quite premature, if not altogether unfounded. A diplomat of high rank declared that nothing was known here except the statements contained in the press reports. Should an alliance be formed, however, France undoubtedly would regard it favorably, her interests being closely bound up with those of Spain and Great Britain.

May Arrest Medical Quacks.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—The arrest of scores of quack doctors and the prosecution of bogus medical companies which are annually mulcting the public of thousands of dollars by imposing upon the credulity and hope of the sick may follow a movement begun by Corporation Counsel Lewis, who has asked Chief of Police Collins for a special detail of detectives to investigate the fake medical cures, as the result of scores of complaints which have reached his office.

Prize Fight Leads to Murder.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Violence, and in one instance murder, was the result of the race excitment that developed while the returns from the Gans-Nelson fight were being received in Chicago. The levee district was aflame with the spirit of lawlessness that broke out at frequent intervals as the partisans of one or the other of the fighters ventured an opinion.

BURNED AT CRATER'S EDGE.

Daring Trip to Volcano Made by International Geologists.

Mexico City, Sept. 4. — Severely burned by the fires of Mount Colima volcano, fourteen venturesome delegates to the international congress of geologists, which meets in this city this week, returned here. The trip to the crater of the volcano was a perilous one. It had never been accomplished before by any one, although several attempts to scale the precipitous mountain had been made.

The members of the party of mountain climbers went about their work methodically. They established camps at different points on the ascent and made a certain amount of progress each day until the summit was finally reached.

The volcano was pouring forth great volumes of smoke, but this did not deter the explorers from advancing to the very edge of the crater. A hot and sudden blast of fire from the depths below badly scorched the bodies of the men, and they beat a hurried retreat.

Those who comprised the daring party were, A. Hovey of New York, John E. Wolfe and H. F. Cleland of Boston, H. W. Reid of Baltimore, Rudolph Ruedman of Albany, W. H. Weed of Washington, Frank H. Adams and A. Bancroft of Montreal, A. P. Coleman of Toronto, George Berg and Rudolph Stabbee of Berlin, Ysumaka Yaki of Tokyo, Paul Waltz of Mexico City and Enrique Husta of Guadalajara.

Says Trust Company Was Looted.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—"From evidence in my possession the collapse of the Real Estate Trust company appears to be the result of stupendous looting. I intend to proceed to the limit against the persons liable." This statement was made by District Attorney Bell after a day spent in examining the evidence handed to him by Receiver Earle of the defunct trust company. That Frank K. Hipple, the suicide president of the institution, was not alone responsible for the crash both Receiver Earle and District Attorney Bell are satisfied, and arrests may be looked for at any time.

Mexican Conspirators Arrested.

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 4.—Collis Humbert, a Frenchman, and Leonardo Villareal and Bruno Trevino, Mexicans, were arrested at Mowry and Patagonia mining camps. It is charged that the men were attempting to organize a force of Mexican miners to attack Nogales, Sonora, and capture the customs house and the arsenal of the rurales. Letters found on the prisoners show that their plans were directed by Mexican revolutionist leaders at St. Louis.

BRADFORD COUNTY GRANGE DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY A.T.LILLEY LEROY, PA.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED

Deputy A. S. Stevens reports several additions made to Iona grange at its last meeting and more applications on hand. So the good work moves along. The interest created by the erection of a new grange hall is bringing about a healthful growth in this grange field.

It is a pleasure to speak of the inspection of Central grange, which is located on Shores Hill. On the 21st inst we found that this grange had in the past few months increased its membership from 40 to 66. Although the heat was extreme there were 50 present who acted their part well in the inspection service. The ritualistic and isoteric work was quite satisfactory, being much above the average. The grange rendered the fourth degree in a commendable manner. The refreshments consisted of a bountiful supply of ice cream and cakes. The literary program consisted of music, songs and recitations. No patron will forget the songs of the "Dear Old Farm," "The Hayseed in His Hair," "Wanted, a Divorce," and the "Pesky Jiners." Thirty young people were present helping to make the occasion cheerful. For readiness and dispatch of business by the master and young people was much appreciated. Some of the members of Wysauking grange were present to enjoy the benfits of the meeting. The average weekly attendance of this grange is 41, the number with which it started, at its organization last February. The minutes of last meeting says "Bro. H. D. Shores discussed 'Does a silo pay a small farmer; how best built and when should they be filled.'"

He was followed by Harlo Webb, M. F. Smith and Bird Shores. Each gave personal experience and observations mostly favoring the silo. The master, L. E. Post, is doing a good work for Central grange.

In the evening of the 23d inst a public meeting was held at North Rome to discuss the propriiety of organizing a grange at that place. The interest shown was good and a sufficient number of names secured to start a grange in the near future. The ideal place for a grange is in country places just like this.

The prospect is that there will be a very large attendance at the annual grange picnic at Mountain Lake on the 31st inst. Every patron should be on the grounds early and help to make the occasion an enjoyable one.

Beech Flats grange conferred the third and fourth degrees on a large class last Friday evening.

Open Hand grange conferred the third and fourth degrees on a class of three last Tuesday evening. The faithful members of the degree team did the work. The P., B. and E. Railroad runs through the farms of 26 members of the grange in LeRoy township. Some of the farms are much improved by the drainage of low land, while others are seriously damaged.

"The law test" at the creameries is causing much dissatisfaction among the patrons. The question of equal rights and equal wrongs ought to be adjusted to the rights of all parties. The recently enacted timber rebate law seems to cause much ill feeling among those who own timber land. Some put their claims in according to the law while others failed and got no rebate. There is a fine opportunity for reform legislation on this subject.

Many of the farmers along the Towanda Creek valley are at work helping build the railroad from Powell to Canton. The railroad is now graded about half way through LeRoy township. The "cuts" and "fills" are greater than the farmers supposed they would be.

The laws concerning weed pests enacted a few years ago fail to eradicate any of them, for all seem to grow luxuriously.

Berry pickers keep right along in the old way scaling fences when berries are wanted. The trespass laws are not thought of because they are not enforced.

A ride through any part of Bradford county will cause the thoughful observer to say there is no use of having a law to prevent black-knot in cherry and plum trees because the trees are nearly all infected and seemingly no one knows what to do.

Now is the time many desire to have a vehicle that will sail a little above the dust and out of the way of automobile collisions. If the great glacier that passed over this region thousands of years ago had lent more of its force in cutting and forming the Towanda Creek valley the valley might have been wider so that the farmer could have room to drive his team on the public road and not be shoved out by the steam engine or an automobile. The farmer feeds all but he must get out of the way of the fellows he feeds.

This is the season of the year that tests the ability of the lecturers of the subordinate granges. When harvest work is crowding and the heat excessive the lecturer must be in real earnest or his lessons for the members will be unlearned and the fruits of his labors nonapparent.

TWO ITALIAN BROTHERS ARE UNDER ARREST.

Charged With Murder of S. Eugene Messenger, at Sayre Last Week.

The two Italian brothers, Dominick and Joseph Scheroni, charged with the murder of C. Eugene Messenger, in the Athens Bridge works on Wednesday of last week, were brought secretly to the Bradford county jail Thursday night by Sheriff Griffin and A. C. McGovern. As a result of the rioting and the movement of an Athens mob against the Italians quartered there, it is rumored that the Italian ambassador at Washington has been appealed to and serious complications may arise, if this report be true. It can not be verified here.

Dominick Scheroni who lives on Satterlee street and Joe Scheroni, who boarded in Sayre were arrested by Chief of Police R. J. Mulligan and Constable McGovern by instruction of District Attorney Charles E. Mills. Joe Scheroni was placed in the lockup at Sayre and Dominick was brought to Athens. Both are bad actors, and have been in custody before, once at the time of an Italian riot in the vicinity of their home. When arrested Dominick had a bad bruise on the side of his face which may have been accidentally received.

Joe was given a hearing at 10 o'clock and tried to prove an alibi, the woman with whom he boards testifying that he came home at 9 o'clock and going directly to bed did not arise until next morning.

Both the Scheroni brothers worked at one time at the Bridge works, but have been employed in Sayre for the past two years. They always appeared on friendly terms with the men at the works and especially with Manager Davies.

The coroner's jury which met at 1 o'clock ,consisted of R. J. Mulligan, George E. Davies, Dr. C. L. Stevens, George Peck, Daniel O'Brien and N. J. Knaresboro.

C. E. Messenger was born in Barton, July 18, 1872, and 17 years ago was married to Allie Caufield of New York state. They lived for a time at Van Etten and later went to Spencer, coming from there to Athens some four years ago. Besides his wife he is survived by his father, step-mother, one half-brother, one half-sister, and four children, Eugenia, aged 16; Ray, aged 12; Ruth, aged 2 years, and an infant son, Garrett, a little over two weeks old.

HUESTIS COWAN CAPTURED, RELEASED.

Taken Upon Complaint of Wife, Who Alleges Desertion in 1902.

After having left his wife and seven small children in 1902, since when he has been a wanderer on the face of the earth, Huetis H. Cowan, formerly of this borough, was arrested here on Sunday by Chief of Police Miller and Constable Guy C. Hollon, on a complaint which has been in their hands for some time.

It appears that Cowan, after allowing five years to elapse, believed he might safely venture into his home town on Sunday and get way on the same day, thus preventing the authorities from taking action until he had left. From private sources, however, the officers had received advance information as to Cowan's prospective movements, and upon his arrival here he was greeted by Hollon, arrested and committed until Monday. Then in 'Squire Meredith's court a complaint was read but there being no appearance against him by the prosecutor, Cowan was discharged. This did not release him from the toils of the law, however, for another complaint was immediately read to Cowan, and upon this new complaint he was held in $500 bail for an appearance in court Monday night. That evening he was released upon $400 cash bail.

Since leaving Towanda, Cowan declares he has visited Mexico and several foreign countries; he has employed himself in several different occupations and has long stories to tell of his adventures.

Wellsburg to Genoa.

Donald Lowman, of Lowman, has received from Geona, Italy, a piece of paper bearing his name and address, which he put in a sealed bottle and threw into the Chemung river near Wellsburg about four years ago. Accompanying the paper was a note stating that the paper had been found on the shores of Italy, near Mt. Vesuvius. The note to Mr. Lowman stated the conditions under which the note was found.—Elmira Advertiser.

TOWANDA, PA., SEPT. 6, 1906.

At any rate, anybody who doesn't want to spell that way needn't.

It does not seem possible that foot ball is only about six weeks away.

It generally turns out that the politician of prominence who yells "down with the boss" wants to be boss himself.

The opinion of Admiral Dewey upon the value of New York receptions might be of interest to Democracy just now.

Fate operates strangely with some men. A condemned murderer in Scranton, for whom no hope of reprieve is held out, is dying in his prison cell and may cheat the gallows by going to his death in the natural way before the time for the execution of the sentence arrives.

One of Col. Roosevelt's Rough Riders, Captain Will S. Murphy, of New York, was fatally shot in a row the other night. It is said that some ruffian fired the shot. Murphy was wounded twice at the battle of San Juan hill and survived to meet his fate at the hands of an unworthy foe in New York.

The preliminary statement of the Erie railroad for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, shows gross earnings of over $50,000,000, an increase over the previous year of $4,277,000, and an increase in net of $1,547,000. Of the increase in working expenses, $2,730,000, an expenditure of more than $1,000,000 was in maintenance of the roadway which was given an unusually liberal allowance of new steel rails and ties. Operating expenses during the same period had an additional charge of $1,000,000 in rehabilitating the equipment, the result being that the power was placed in an excellent condition for increased business.

We rely think Mr. Rusvelt (or Rusevelt)- and his friends mite leve (or lev) us our own langwidge. They have not left us much else (or els.) In sum instanses it may be puzling, espeshuly to the foriner and imature skoolboy, but its orthografty has a sertin historikal valu, and we do not like to part with it.

PHILOSOPHY OF ADVERTISING.

A Missouri paper, the Northborne Democrat, asks who pays for the advertising of merchants and other business men. Answering its own question, it constructs this chain of argument:

"Not the advertiser, for the cost is returned to him four-fold in increased profits. Not the purchaser, for he buys cheaper from the advertiser and has a better assortment and fresher goods to select from.

"Who then really pays the advertising bills? The non-advertiser of course. A just proportion of the money he loses by his lack of initiative and enterprise finds its way eventually to the printer, to advance the cause of education and the interests of the community."

Very good. But it should be added that if the non-advertiser should become an advetriser, and pay his money directly to the newspaper, he would get it back many times over in increased trade and thus be a gainer instead of a loser. This makes the argument more complete and unanswerable.

Moreover, the contention is sustained by the experience of the most successful business men.

INEXPENSIVE SOLICITATION.

Some enterprising grocers and provisioners in the residential sections of the city send out their solicitors every morning to interview the neighboring housewives and take their orders for the day. The system is primitive, but it well serves the purposes of a trade confined to an area but a few squares in extent. Personal solicitation is a physical impossibility in the case of retailers whose customers are scattered over an entire city and its environs; but they have an excellent substitute in newspaper advertising. The newspaper performs for the general retailer the same service that the canvasser renders to the grocer in posting the consumer as to current supplies and bargains. And in proportion to the number of people reached the newspaper service is a thousand times the cheaper.—Philadelphia Record.

THE DEMOCRATIC WATCHWORD.

After a year's absence in foreign lands, Mr. William J. Bryan, a private citizen, has returned to this country to find himself the most talked about person in it, the acknowledged leader of his party, and at present, its candidate for the presidency. His address delivered in Madison Square Garden, New York, last Thursday evening, may be regarded as outlining the issue on which the Democratic party will appeal to the people in 1908. It was a great speech and easily maintained the reputation of its maker as one of the greatest orators of this country.

In his speech, Mr. Bryan declared that the foremost politicel issue of the present day is the trust issue, and the government ownership and operation of railroads. The rest of his suggestions are overshadowed in the public mind by this. It comes nearer being the keynote of his address than anything else. The fact that it was put forward only as a suggestion at this time, with a qualification that perhaps this country is not ready for it and a majority of his own party may not approve of it, does not weaken his advocacy of it, as ultimately desirable. He is irrevocably committed to it, and so far as the political significance of his reception is concerned, he has committed his party to it if they persist in nominating him. Even its omission from the next national platform will not minimize it if he is the candidate. His very sincerity forbids that. The great watchword of progress for the Democratic party is public ownership of railroads, of all means of transportation and every public utility that is a natural monopoly.

This is the program laid down by the leader of the Democratic party. He leaves no doubt of his meaning. He will make the party as socialistic as he can and at the same time he denies that he is a Socialist. He not only puts his party on the defensive pleas before the national campaign begins but he takes the same side himself. He pleads for public ownership to an extent that involves borrowing $10,000,000,000 on public account and putting 5,000,000 places at command of politicians and then he sets out to argue that he is not socialistic in principle.

The coming candidate has drawn the line and informed the solid men of business, the leaders in commerce, manufacture, finance, that it is his purpose to conduct an agitation that compels them to oppose him unless they think it a good thing to check prosperity, alarm capital and throw labor out of work, to demoralize business and to open soup houses.

From the political standpoint only the Republican party welcome the issue that Mr. Bryan makes. The party of prosperity, of the highest wages in the world, of largest returns to investment, of protection to industry, of human rights regardless of race, color and condition, can have no fear of the Democratic assault projected by the leader of the Democratic party.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Democratic party of Bradford county met in convention in the grand jury room on Wednesday of last week, and after nominating John E. Graham for jury commissioner, passed a long string of resolutions which were the joint work of the committee on resolutions and Charles M. Hall. One of the paragraphs contained the following:

"George W. Kipp has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for congress from this district and as he has expressed strong views in favor of legislation to curb the predatory trusts we recommend him to the consideration of the nominating conferees."

This is rather a short and formal send-off for Mr. Kipp, but we suppose it is to be taken as the official launching of his boom. It suits us if it suits Mr. Kipp. The conferees do not appear to have been appointed yet.

We have heard that Mr. Kipp is entirely willing to run, and if that is true his nomination may be regarded as certain. Ordinarilly the Democratic nomination is not sought after in the Fourteenth district, for the good and sufficient reason that the Democratic nominee gets licked. It is a case generally of whoever wants it may have it. Inasmuch as the Democratic race for congress in this district is ordinarily a forlorn hope, why does Mr. Kipp want the nomination and why do the Democrats want him to take it? Why?

This time, as usual, whether the Democrats name Kipp of some one else, Mial E. Lilley the Republican nominee, will be elected. Some Democrat is going to be licked out of his boots, and it might as well be Kipp as anybody else.

THE VERMONT RESULT.

Those who have been predicting the Fall elections would show a change in the political sentiment and a slump from Republicanism and Roosevelt, will have to try again. The voters of Vermont went to the polls on Tuesday and elected Proctor, the Republican candidate for governor, by a majority of from fifteen to twenty thousand. The charges of the Democrats of corruption in the state government were completely disproved and turned against them. The result is a vindication of Republican rule, an emphatic endoraement of Roosevelt, and shows which way the wind is blowing.

There is a touch of Fall in the atmosphere with the advent of September, and the bright blue sky, cool breeze and pure air, give us a reminder of the delicious days coming, one of the finest seasons of the year.

The wicked newspapers are trying to throw the blame of the Oil Trust's going into the distillery business on the shoulders of the good Mr. Rockefeller, although he has distinctly told them that he is not responsible for the Oil Trust's actions.

COAL LAND ASSESSMENTS.

"It is evident that there needs to be a complete readjustment," says the Wilkes-Barre Leader in discussing coal land assessments.

"It is estimated that if the coal companies paid taxes upon a near approach to the value of their holdings, the taxes of other property owners would be very considerably reduced. The county commissioners, it is said, are giving the question much attention. It would not be surprising if they would insist upon the assessors returning a higher valuation,—not perhaps the full value, acknowledging the validity of some of the arguments of the operators, but yet a considerable increase over the ridicuously low assessments that are made in innumerable instances. There is evidently opportunity for sweeping reform.

"In Luzerne as well as in the other counties coal lands are assessed far below their actual value. There is no uniformity. In some of the townships the land is assessed at one-fifteenth of its real value, and so on. For several years the companies have been accused of escaping their just burdens of taxation.

"This problem must be considered apart from all other valuation problems. The natural inference would be that an acre of coal land valued at $2,000 should be assessed $2,000, or something near that sum. The coal companies, on the other hand, set up the contention that while the land may be worth $2,000 or more when it is reached by the mining operations, it is worth absolutely nothing until mining is conducted and the coal becomes an actual asset; that it should not be taxed at its full value until revenue is derived from it, the same as revenue is derived from a house or business building.

"On the contrary, the contention is made that so long as there is value upon the property it is an asset and, therefore, is taxable; that if you attempted to buy this coal land for a mere trifle the companies would say 'it is worth $2,000 an acre to us now and it will be worth much more when we come to mine it,—we cannot afford to sell it for any less.' In this view of the case the property has a present value."

THE PHILADELPHIA CRASH.

One of the greatest financial crashes in Pennsylvania was that which wrecked the Real Estate Trust company, of Philadelphia. The amount of money involved in this failure is about $7,000,000, and though that sum, if speedily received, would enable the company to tide over its difficulties, the company was unable to obtain the money yesterday and had to close its doors.

The failure was due to causes that have become too common, says Harrisburg Star-Independent. The president of the institution, Frank K. Hipple, who died suddenly last Friday, had made large loans without the knowledge of the directors. These lonas, it is said, are covered by worthless securities, or securities that are practically worthless. The statements which he made to the directors from time to time were juggled in order that they might the more readily be deceived, and it is also said that the bank examiner was deceived in the same way by the use of two sets of accounts. Be that as it may, the company failed because of the enormous and unprotected loans of the president.

But not all is lost; indeed the depositors will probably get all their money. The company has valuable assets which are not immediately convertible into cash, but which in time can be made to produce enough to pay all indebtedness, if it is found necessary to wind up the business of the concern. But this may not be necessary. An expert receiver, George H. Earle, Jr., who brought order out of the tangled financial doings of William M. Singerly, has been appointed to rescue the company and protect the depositors, and he has issued a bulletin in which he expresses the hope that in time they will receive dollar for dollar. It is impossible to draw any moral from the recent wrecking of such institutions. The trusted man has proved unworthy, but there is no sure way to pick out the trustworthy.

DON'T MISS YOUR FAIR!

It will soon be fair time says an exchange. The gates of your local fair will be thrown open before long. Within a few weeks the state fairs will be in full blast. It is a question with many farmers whether they can afford to take the time and expense of attending one, two, or three or more fairs. A greater question is whether they can afford not to. Every fair should be an exposition of the best of every production in the territory surrounding it. If you have something good you should be represented among the exhibitors. If you havent you should encourage those who have by showing that you appreciate their efforts to the extent of a personal examination of what they have. It is encouraging and stimulating to have good audiences at exhibitions of this kind. It is a pretty dull man who cannot realize in all his future life the amount it costs him in time and money to attend his county and state fairs. Those who take no hand in conducting fairs owe a duty to those who do and that obligation can be paid by attending the fairs either as exhibitors or interested spectators.

THE NAVAL REVIEW.

Nothing does so much for the peace of the world as fleets of battleships assembled for review. The probability of wars need not enter our calculations. The fleet which rode at anchor in Long Island Sound yesterday is strong enough to prevent any such possibilities from becoming history. It is not built for aggression. It will never be used for attack. But as long as it has its present relative strength the peace of the Western Hemisphere is secure.

Numerically, the English and French fleets are stronger. The English fleet has more new battleships. The French fleet has not. France has reached the limit of its capacity to add to its fleet. Its new battleships are few and its fleet of new battleships is smaller than that of the United States. So are Germany's, or will be until its new naval program is completed. Unless this country continues the growth of its fleet the German new battleship fleet will be the stronger in 1912 to 1915—when the Panama canal is opened.

The American fleet reviewed by President Roosevelt on Monday is strong enough to keep the peace. It must be maintained in this relative strength.

The system of back stamping letter mail to show the hour of its arrival at the postoffice from which it is to be delivered to the addressee, which has been in operation since 1879, will be discontinued, if an experiment now being made in the postoffices at New York, Chicago, Boston and Jersey City, by order of First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock, proves successful. It is the belief of Mr. Hitchcock that back stamping letters serves no useful end that cannot be attained by other means, and he estimates that if the practice is abandoned throughout the country it will result in mail being placed in the hands of the people from 20 minutes to two hours earlier in every city that enjoys the free delivery service.

To Stop Tartar-Armenian Conflicts.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 4.—The situation in the Shusha, Jevenshir and other districts of southeastern Caucasus, where Tartar-Armenian hostilities are in full sway, has grown so serious that the viceroy has superseded General Golochtkapoff, governor general of Elizabethpol province, by General Bauer, whose name was coupled with that of General Alikhanoff in connection with the strong methods by which order was restored in the Caucasus after the revolt of last winter. While parliament was in session attention was repeatedly called to General Bauer's harshness by the members from the Caucasus.

Floods Devastate Part of India.

Lahore, India, Sept. 4.—Floods have devastated a large section of Behar district. Whole villages have been obliterated, great areas of food crops have been destroyed and the indigo crop is ruined. There are nine feet of water on the low lying lands, giving the country for miles the appearance of an open sea. The inhabitants have sought refuge in the hills and are depending for subsistence on raids made on the half ripe wheatfields situated on high ground.

ELMER B. McKEE RETIRES FROM THE DAILY REVIEW.

After 21 Years Devoted to That Paper He Enters New Field.

Elmer B. McKee, for over 21 years connected with The Daily Review, as owner and manager, as is generally known has sold his interest in the Towanda Printing company and has severed his connection with this paper. It is with the sincerest regret that his business associates through many years part with him, and it is equally true that they wish him all prosperity and happiness for the future.

Jos. A. Doane, for the past 17 years connected in various capacities with the Daily Review—12 years as its news editor—has been chosen business manager of the Towanda Printing company, and Monday took up his new duties.

Mr. McKee goes about Oct. 1, to Anniston, Ala., where he is to become one of the owners of the Anniston Evening Star. At this time it is fitting to say something concerning his business achievements:

June 15, 1885, he and his brother, Frank C. McKee, now treasurer and manager of the Carlisle Printing company, and editor of The American Volunteer at Carlisle, Pa., took possession of The Daily Review. Towanda's daily paper was then a small affair of five columns to the page. It was established on Aug. 11, 1879, by S. W. Alvord & Son, and its six years of existence up to the time McKee Bros. became the owners had been marked by the struggles usually incident to the launching of daily papers in inland towns at that time. To Mr. McKee's unceasing efforts is due the high place and prestige now enjoyed by The Review in the Bradford county newspaper field.

Elmer B. McKee was born in Orwell township, this county, in 1859. His whole life has been devoted to educational work, and later to the newspaper business, although he has found time to engage in other enterprises of a local nature, where there was a possibility of their assisting in the upbuilding of the town's industries. His business ability is best indicated by the success of those enterprises in which he has been an active agent. As a young boy Mr. McKee came to Towanda with his parents, and graduated from the commercial department of the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute in 1873, in the first class under Professors Ryan and Quinlan. For a time he taught in the public schools of the county, and in 1882 graduated from the Oswego Normal Training school. For a year following he was principal of the Sayre graded school, and then taught a year in the S. C. I. At this time he became interested in county institute instruction work, and during 1884-86, inclusive, was an instructor in some 30 counties in this state. He was for a number of years a school director in Towanda borough and is at the present time one of the trustees of the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute.

Since first engaging in it Mr. McKee has never appeared satisfied with the existing state of things in the newspaper business, but has directed all his energies to building up and improving the properties with which he has been connected. From time to time The Review was enlarged and improved, a weekly edition established, and in 1896 he purchased the Bradford Republican. On Oct. 1, 1903, the Towanda Printing company was formed and the properties of the Reporter-Journal Printing company, and McKee Bros. were consolidated. Of this company Mr. McKee was treasurer and business manager. He has for years been deeply interested in the general welfare of the publishing business of the state and is active in the affairs of both state and national editorial associations. He is a member of the executive and libel committees of the state association, and a delegate last year to the national association.

Mr. McKee is one of the incorporators of the Carlisle Printing company, the new owners of the American Volunteer at Carlisle.

In addition to his other interests, Mr. McKee was a director and the treasurer of the Towanda Electric Illuminating company, and a director of the New York State Telephone company, and the Towanda Gas company. He was also active in the affairs of the Business Men's association of Towanda, and was its first president.

POLICE COURT MATTERS.

Petty Cases, of Usual Sort, Keep Machinery of Justice Moving.

A long drawn out criminal case occupied the attention of Justice John Meredith Thursday afternoon; Patsey Mann, not a Hiberian, but a full-blooded Italian boy, was arrested, charged with larceny and pointing a firearm, Montgomery Vanderpool being the prosecutor. The case was of great interest to the feminine residents of the "Red Row" in South Main street, who with others filled the court. Attorney S. H. Smith represented the prosecutor, while Attorney D. E. Kaufman looked after the young defendant's interest. Justice Meredith decided in favor of the prosecutor, holding the defendant in $50 bail, which Interprter Gori furnished.

In the case of the Commonwealth against Ralph Whitmiller charged with aggravated assault and battery, Victoria Ruly was the prosecutrix; Whitmiller was held to court in the sum of $100, failing to furnish which he was committed to the county jail.

ATHENS RIOTERS DISGRACE SAYRE.

Thousand Men in Mad Mob Run Wild —Scatter At One Word.

Not since the Lehigh strike of 1894 have such scenes been witnessed at Sayre and Athens as transpired during the evening hours of Thursday and Friday of last week. Aroused to unreasoning rage by the murder of C. Eugene Messenger earlier in the week, the rough element held full sway about the streets, and only the nerve of the local police and lack of a leader with sufficient brute courage prevented acts of serious nature and open riot.

Even the announcement that Sheriff Griffin had succeeded in getting the two Italian suspects to the Towanda jail did not lessen the turbulence of the mob, and, encouraged by lengthy and highly colored accounts in city papers, the shop men and others are reported to have laid plans Friday for a wholesale clean-up of the foreigners. Sheriff Griffin, learning of the situation secured deputies in readiness, and notified the Bridge company to pay off and discharge all their Italian help. Other concerns employing foreign labor followed this example, and an exodus of more than a hundred "Dagoes" took place during the afternoon. Then, to prevent another wild demonstration on Friday night, the sheriff, with his posse, was on hand well armed, and patroled the streets.

In the meantime, Joseph and Dominick Sharrone, the Italian brothers arrested in connection with the murder of Messenger, are safe in the Bradford county jail here, having been held to the grand jury, as the result of a hearing before Justice Johnson, at Athens Thursday night; the motive for the crime is believed to be desire for revenge on the part of the brothers because of former trouble between Messenger and the Italians.

Troy Fair Sept. 11-14.

Next week, Sept. 11-14, has been set apart for the holding of the Troy Fair. It has been the aim of the Troy Agricultural Society to make their fair primarily an agricultural exhibition, a place for the display of those things of superior quality that are grown on the farms or made in the homes of those living in Eastern Tioga and Western Bradford. Those that have attended their fairs know this to have been a fact and while they have furnished attractions of various kinds and do again this year, they consider the agricultlral exhibition their greatest feature. The men composing the association are men who believe that the fine quality of stock and other produce seen on the farms today is largely due to the influence exerted in the past by the smaller fairs that have been held and it is because of this that they are in the work today. Let everyone that has this matter at heart and who desires to see a fair maintained in Western Bradford turn out and show by their presence that they desire the good work to go on.

Mercur appeared before the council and asked that action be taken toward construction of a walk on the West side of River street at the Houser and other properties. This is a petition presented once before the board and opposed by George Dayton who claims a walk would interfere with his driveway entrance. The street committee agreed to look into the matter at an early date.

Dr. Woodburn appeared and discoursed at some length upon the relative value of differently constructed macadam roads. There were no special reports from committees; it was decided to lay on the table the matter of the purchase of new hose. The following bills were audited and ordered paid:

Dump Cars Dumped.

A broken journal on one of the little dump cars of Contractor John Dolan's miniature gravel train, sent loads of dirt rolling down the embankment at the wrong place in the fill being made at East Towanda; beyond the loss of time and the temporary demoralization of the "Guiny gang," no particular damage resulted, and the work was soon resumed. The fill has been constructed far out across the river flats, and work is proceeding rapidly.

Italians Went to Wilkes-Barre.

Over 200 Italians arrived in this city the past two days from Athens, Sayre, and Waverly, from which places they were driven by a crowd of English speaking people, who want to avenge the murder of fireman Messenger at Athens several days ago. TWO RUNAWAYS MAKE EXCITEMENT.

Spirited Animals, Defective Harness, One Horse Killed, No One Hurt.

Two exciting runaways within 24 hours furnished diversion for those who happened to be in the vicinity of the excitement. In neither case was any person injured, beyond the shock of a bad fright, though in both instances escape from serious, if not fatal, injury was almost miraculous.

Sunday night a horse driven by a well known young man, frightened by the breaking of the harness, became unmanageable on Main street near Bridge, and dashed the entire length of the thoroughfare, kept in the road only by the desperate efforts of the driver. At a point nearly at the head of Main street the animal was brought to a stop, one of the occupants of the rig getting out safely, when the beast started again bringing up at a barb wire fence, upon which he was only slightly cut.

Monday forenoon, a young horse belonging to A. C. Ballard of the Racket store, and driven by Fred King, a delivery clerk, went wild at a point in Main street, below James Bennett's store, and in a single leap ran foul of Bennett's rig standing in front of his place. A thill of the wagon pierced Bullard's horse, penetrating to the heart and causing almost instant death. With a wild plunge and a groan, the animal fell dead on the pavement, while a great crowd looked on. The horse was a young animal, and had attempted to run away before. Bennett's horse was badly injured.

THE OVERTON AFFAIR.

"Granger" Gives His Side of the Interesting Controversy.

Editor of Reporter-Journal:—

In your paper of Aug. 30 there was an article under the heading of "Up in Arms at Overton," which is misleading and does the Overton grange injustice. The facts are simply these: A portion of the Macabees, known as the Overton Hall association, own a hall which the grange rented. The association recently notified the grange that they must pay an increase in rent of $18 per year. This the grange thought was unfair, and quietly moved out of the hall. This was not satisfactory to the Hall association, who wanted them to again rent the hall and pay the high rent. Frank Molyneux then offered to rent the grange a building. A committee was appointed to examine his property and if satisfactory rent. About this time Mr. Molyneux was met on the street by two members of the Hall association who took him to task for offering to rent to the grange. Mrs. Lancaster, a middle-aged lady of the town then offered to rent the grange a portion of her house and this offer was accepted by a vote of the grange and a committee appointed to close the bargain and arrange for occupying the place. When the postmaster, J. J. Francke, son-in law of Mrs. Lancaster, and a member of the Hall association, learned that his mother-in-law had leased her house he was dissatisfied, and persuaded her to deed him the porperty. The committee with other members of the grange went to the house, found the door unlocked and took peaceable possession of the place. When Mr. Francke learned that the grange had possession of the building he attempted to put them out. Being unable to get them out he caused them to be arrested. The grange having peaceable possession thought they had a right to hold it, and also protected themselves from J. J. Francke and his party, for they were the ones who were "up in arms." The grange made no defense at the primary hearing. All the grange asks is justice after the light is turned on. A GRANGER.

"Mike" Madigan's Move.

The current issue of Sporting Life, a magazine devoted to base ball and other outdoor sports, states that "Mike" Madigan, the crack Towanda third baseman, who has been doing big things for the Kane team this Summer, has been sold by the Kane management to the New York Americans. The latter have farmed "Mike" out to the Montreal Eastern Lague team and he is putting up as good a game at the third corner as the veteran players of the league. This state of affairs would seem to demonstrate that Madigan has caught on to the big game in proper shape, and will next year travel in good, fast company.

Tommy Rott Is In It Now.

McCarthy in Again.

"Jack" McCarthy, just through with a job on the county stone pile, was arrested Monday evening on a warrant charging with assault. His resistance to the officers and profane and obscene talk merited a quietus. A big crowd was attracted by the disturbance. He was given 30 days in jail.

SPALDING—KELLY WEDDING.

Well Known Towanda People Were United in Marriage August 29.

Miss Helen Josepha Kelly, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Kelly, and Israel Putnam Spalding were united in marriage last week Wednesday morning at the home of the bride's parents on Poplar street. The ceremony was performed by Dr. O. A. Houghton, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, in the presence of about 40 guests, nearly all of whom were relatives.

The rooms of the house were decorated with hydrangea and golden rod, and the bridal couple took their places before a bower of hydrangea and asparagus; there were no attendants, the bride entering the room with her father. She wore a gown of white wool batiste, with a hat of crochet lace and flowers, and carried a bouquet of white china asters and maidenhair fern.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The bride's table, at which ten were seated, was decorated with cosmos and maidenhair fern. Mr. and Mrs. Spalding left on train No. 1 for a stay of a week, after which they will be at home at their residence on York avenue.

Mr. Spalding is a well known business man of this borough, and his bride is an accomplished young woman who has been for several years a teacher in the Towanda graded schools. A legion of friends will join The Review in extending congratulations.

SAYRE THUGS TRY TO FIRE HOUSE.

Cowards Soak House in Italian Quarter With Oil, But Purpose Fails.

At 3 o'clock Saturday morning the Sayre fire department was called out by an alarm sent from the house of Mrs. Rudolph Fletchurt, and formerly occupied by a number of Italians.

The fire was set, it is believed, by incendaries, who, lacking courage to again mobilize as on Thursday night, waited till all was quiet, and then soaked the Flutchert house with kerosene. The Italians at Sayre and Athens, aroused by the wholesale hostilities displayed, have been held in check only through the continued efforts of the police and sheriff's officers.

The flames were seen and extinguished by neighbors before any great headway had been made, but the perpetrators of the outrage escaped unseen.

Friday afternoon six young men of Sayre were arrested for trying to organize a mob of rioters. The arrest of the ringleaders had a quieting effect on the rough element among the residents and no violence was again attempted.

The six young men were allowed to go upon their own recognizance, being summoned to appear on Monday, Sept. 10.

WARSHIPS IN REVIEW

President Roosevelt Is Greeted by Tremendous Salutes.

BIG THRONG AT OYSTER BAY

Spectators See Greatest American Fleet Ever Assembled, Forty-five Vessels With Over 1,100 Guns and More Than 15,000 Tars.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 3.—President Roosevelt reviewed the greatest fleet of fighting ships ever assembled under the American flag.

Three long columns of men-of-war had tugged at their anchors in the waters of Long Island sound since noon Sunday. The forty-five vessels were all within range of Sagamore Hill and could have trained 1,178 guns on the summer residence of President Roosevelt. Instead, they roared out to him a tremendous salute as he came among them on his flagship, the Mayflower.

To guard this assemblage of leviathans of the sea against the friendly attack of an admiring multitude a cordon of tiny naval launches was stretched around the miles of anchorage ground covered by the fleet. The review was carried out with the utmost care in every detail. Not a ship moved from its place until the ceremony was over.

The day of the review opened overcast and stormy, with intervals of hard rain driven before stiff but variable winds. The disappointing weather conditions were not allowed to interfere with any detail of the programme, however, and apparently had no effect upon the crowd which gathered to witness the imposing spectacle.

President Roosevelt did not mind the weather in the least, as he had before demonstrated during the downpour which marked the delivery of his Fourth of July address to the citizens of Oyster Bay.

More than 15,000 jackies and 800 officers manned the decks. The United States Atlantic fleet, under command of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, was ready for inspection by 8 a. m.

Extended Two Miles.

The three long columns lay with their head just a mile west of the extreme point of Lloyd's neck and three miles directly north of Sagamore Hill through the harbor entrance of Oyster Bay. With intervals between columns and ships of 450 yards they stretched along the sound toward New York for more than two miles. The fleet consisted of three squadrons of two divisions each, two torpedo boat flotillas, submarines, a troopship and five auxiliaries. The center column represented the heaviest tonnage and fighting capacity of the fleet.

This column was headed by the Maine, the flagship of Admiral Evans. Directly astern was the sister ship Missouri, of 12,000 tons; then the two 11,520 ton battleships Kentucky and Kearsarge, next the 16,000 ton Louisiana, just completed, which the navy fondly calls "the most modern battleship," succeeded by the 14,948 ton Rhode Island, New Jersey and Virginia. The column was completed by the four monitors Puritan, Nevada, Florida and Arkansas.

Boarding the Mayflower at 10:30 o'clock, President Roosevelt reached the head of the column a half hour later. When the Mayflower came within "signaling distance" of the Maine a tremendous salute of twenty-one guns in unison, every ship participating, was fired. Then, when the Mayflower cleared the stern of the Maine in her course down the inspection line, the Maine belched forth twenty-one guns more, likewise every ship in the fleet.

Guests of the President.

There was a merry party of guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The Des Moines was at the service of the foreign naval attaches. The eight attaches who were present were transferred from the Des Moines to the Mayflower. They were Captain F. E. C. Ryan, R. N., of the British embassy; Lieutenant Commander B. de Blanpre, French embassy; Captain Hebbinghaus, imperial German embassy; Lieutenant Carlo Pfister, Italian embassy; Commander Nebolsine, Russian embassy; Lieutenant Commander N. Taniguchi, Japanese embassy; Lieutenant Commander Vera, Argentine Republic, and Lieutenant Eduardo Harlo Suez, Uruguay.

The senate naval committee, also guests of the president on the Mayflower during the review, were Senators Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, Julius C. Burrows of Michigan and Charles Dick of Ohio. The house naval committee was represented by Chairman Foss of Illinois and Representative Loudenslager of New Jersey, Mudd of Maryland, Vreeland of New York, Bates of Pennsylvania, Lilley of Connecticut, Meyer of Louisiana and Padgett of Tennessee.

Mrs. Roosevelt was with the president on the Mayflower; also the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Bonaparte, Postmaster General Cortelyou, Acting Secretary of State Bacon, the Secretary to the President and Mrs. Loeb, the assistant secretary of the navy, Mr. Newberry; Surgeon General of the Navy Rixey, Lieutenant Commander Key, naval aid to the president; W. Emlen Roosevelt, F. P. Dunne, J. B. Connolly, C. Grant LaFarge, Dr. Hollander, Mr. Velasquez and representatives of the press associations, weekly newspapers and photographers.

BRADFORD COUNTY FAMILIES HOLD ENJOYABLE REUNIONS.

Many Pleasant Gatherings Have Been Held During August.

The family reunion habit is growing on the people of Bradford county, as is attested by the many pleasant gatherings of that character held during the last few weeks.

New York city, Canandaigua, Syracuse, Ithaca, Geneva, Oneida City, Watkins, Elmira, and other places in New York state were represented. Also Williamsport, Troy, Columbia X Roads, Millerton, Springfield, Mosherville and numerous other places in Pennsylvania. Rev. L. Reynolds of Fassett, addressed the assemblage and led in devotional exercises. President Owen and Secretary VanDine had a fine program arranged. It was much enjoyed as was also a song from one of the older Brewers. A bountiful dinner was served. The Brewer family is a prominent one and they are highly respected people. An interesting base ball game was a feature of the occasion. The same officers were chosen for the coming year—C. S. Owen, president; E. E. VanDine, secretary.

Rockwell.

The fifty-ninth annual reunion of the lineal descendants of Samuel and Hannah Lasell Rockwell was held at Alparon park, in Troy, Aug. 30, and while the attendance was not as large as usual, we believe that all who were present had a good time. The first reunion of this family was held in Canton, Aug. 25, 1847, on the farm where the said Samuel and Hannah, with their sturdy family of nine sons and one daughter, began in the year 1804 to hew out their future home. They came from Vermont to Pennsylvania, stopping at Alba, and from there they cut a road into the forest, a distance of two miles, in one day, and the second day built a house, and the third day moved into it. At this reunion in 1847, the aged father and his nine sons were all present, as was also Luther Rockwell's nine sons. There were present at this meeting about 200 of the family and quite a number of the old friends and neighbors. Col. Wilson was chosen president, and Francis Elliott, marshall. Dr. Shepard gave a fine talk which was very interesting. But eight of the third generation that attended the meeting in Canton 59 years ago were able to be present at Alparon park in Troy, Aug. 30, 1906.

Ayers and West.

The sixth annual reunion of the Ayers and West families was held at the vegetable hall on the Troy fair grounds, on Saturday, Aug. 25. On account of the day not being fair there were only 36 present, but all report a good time. After dinner the meeting was called to order and the old officers re-elected. There were two births reported: To Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ayers, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Thorpe, a son. Two deaths reported, that of Mrs. Allen Collins, and Grace Ayers, daughter of John Ayers. It was decided to hold the next reunion at the same place on the last Saturday in August, 1907.

Bowen Reunion.

The descendants of the Noah C. Bowen family held their third reunion at the home of Delmar H. Beckwith, Windham, on Tuesday, Aug. 28. Nature seemed in sympathy with the occasion for the weather was perfect. The company numbering 44. All the families were represented except Noah and Irvin Rockefeller, and there were also two aunts and one uncle present, Mr. and Mrs. David Sleeper, to help enjoy the day. There has been since the last meeting of this family two births, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Rockefeller, and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Beckwith. After a bountiful dinner and ice cream served on the lawn, the meeting was called to order by the president, G. H. Bowen. The officers of the preceding year were elected. Hankinson was elected president; A. S. Hankinson, vice-president; Mrs. E. C. Patton, secretary and treasurer. The next meeting will be held at Towanda.

Troy Fair, Sept. 11-14.

In addition to the games between Troy and Mansfield, there will be morning games each day—Springfield, West Burlington, Wetona and Columbia X Roads each having a team entered, two to play each morning, and the winners on the last day. POMONA GRANGE PICNIC WAS HELD LAST FRIDAY.

Synopsis of the Addresses Made by Prominent Patrons.

The anual basket picnic of Pomona grange, No. 3, was held at Mountain Lake on Aug. 3. The weather was fine, the attendance large, the social feautres very cordial, and harmony and good will prevailed. Greetings began at 10 a. m. and continued until 1 p. m. Boat riding and ball playing occupied a part of the attention of the young people until 1 o'clock, when order was called by C. P. Shaw, Master of Pomona grange. He introduced John Hunt, chairman of the Pomona executive committee, who prseided during the afternoon exercises.

Mr. Oster's Address.

The Wilson chorus and quartet singers of Columbia grange, opened with a chorus, after which G. W. Oster, secretary of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State grange, said in part: "When I look over this audience and see the badges in evidence I do not know what I was called here for today. All are educated along the same line, all know what the grange is, know what it is doing and all admit and know the grange is a good thing, so all should help it along. Every calling under the sun is organized in some way. If the farmers were as thoroughly organized as other people they could work wonders. The farmer is the corner stone of all. In a few years nearly all farm work will be done by electricity. The telephone and wireless telegraphy are in their infancy. We have laws recently enacted that are an outrage upon our people. The burial law is a burden on the common people and is as uncalled for as burdensome. The vaccination law in one county in the Southern part of the state has made 30 cripples to one case of smallpox. The state road law does not improve the roads. I know of a township where no one would accept the office of supervisor because the law does not allow supervisors to have pay for labor. A plantation song was finely rendered by the Wilson chorus singers.

State Lecturer Cornell.

A. M. Cornell, lecturer of the Pennsylvania State grange, said "The condition of the grange all over the land are very encouraging. Equal rights and equally distributed burdens are grange principles and the great men of our country are now advocating grange principles. As the members of the order get to know one another better the better work they do. I would be ashamed not to be a Patron. Each should understand and then act on the plank of a 'square deal.' We need the parcel post and will get it. The rural telephone has become a necessity and I am sorry for the farm home not having it. The postal savings bank is something that the farmer needs very much and it is believed that in the near future we will have it. Uncle Sam should contribute funds for public reoads. Boys leave the farm because they do not have a square deal with the other fellows. I feel sorry for the Patron who excuses himself for non-attendance at the grange meetings, saying 'I am tired and they can get along without me.' We ask equal rights and special privileges for none."

Hon. George Moscrip said: "T he grange deserves much credit for the good things of today as any one." After naming many good things, he further said: "Through grange influence the carrying company can' now be only a carrier. We have just raised the best crop of wheat ever raised in any country. The railroads are in league with the express companies. There is no congressman who dares vote against the wishes of the grange. I favor an annual appropriation of $15,000,000 for school purposes, as it will just about eliminate the school tax. For many years past the railroads have controlled both the Democrats and Republicans. We are going to have a two-cent per mile railroad fare. It is all right for the state to pay for the rebuilding of bridges destroyed by freshets and the law recently enacted on this subject should be repealed."

Hon. Louis Piollet said: "The proper thing for the farmers to do is to organize. Farmers should fix the price of their produce and not let the merchant do it. The farmer can buy at wholesale through grange arrangements. The social part of the grange is a great help to the farmer and so is the educational. Three-fourths of the voters of Bradford county are farmers and it is but right that they vote for and control their own interests. Through the grange we are getting many things that we need, but all farmers should be organized and then work together."

W. B. Packerd said: "Teach the boys to look in good places to find good things. The farmers at last are awake to the needs of the farmer. When the farmer looks he can get what he wants. Conditions must be changed. Before another election of commissioners the Pomona grange ought to nominate three such men as L. T. Manley, John Morley and N. D. Snyder."

A vote of thanks was tendered the Wilson chorus and quartet snigers.

A. T. Lilley, secretary ex-committee Pomona grange.

EMERY MASS MEETING AND RECEPTION AT ATHENS.

Lincoln Party Candidate Greeted by Many.

If one were to judge by appearances, Lewis Emery, Jr., the fusion candidate for governor on the Democratic and Lincoln tickets, is a popular man in the Northern part of Bradford county. He was at Athens Tuesday and shook hands with throngs of people at a reception given for him in the afternoon at the palatial home of Hon. O. D. Kinney on South Main street, and addressed a large meeting in the evening at the Elsbree Opera House. He arrived at Athens about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, having left home at Bradford at 6 o'clock in the morning, coming to Waverly over the Erie.

The reception at Mr. Kinney's was from 2 to 5 o'clock, and was an elegant affair. The house, the old McCurdy mansion, was beautifully decorated inside and out with the American flag. In the parlor Mr. Kinney, the Hon. Mr. Emery, Colonel Mapes of Philadelphia, the secretary of the Lincoln State committee, Hon. J. K. Newell of Towanda, and Harry L. Horton of New York, received the people, who single filed past them and were introduced to the visiting statesman.

Elegant refreshments were served in the dining room, Hosmer's band played on the lawn in front of the house, and Park's Athens orchestra discoursed sweet music on the verandah. Later in the afternoon the party was joined by Hon. William T. Creasy, candidate for secretary of internal affairs, and Hon. Jeremiah Black of York, candidate for lieutenant governor, who came on later trains.

Mr. Emery is a medium sized man of spare figure, has a twinkling, merry eye, gray hair and wears a pleasant smile. He is easy of address and shows his business by giving plenty of attention to the newspaper men.

Mr. Emery's Address.

At the Elsbree Opera House in the evening he made a speech which was devoted principally to the subject, "Labor's Claims." It was an appeal to the working man to assert his independence and free himself from the chains which, according to the speaker, bossism and political greed have forged about him. Mr. Emery waxed quite eloquent and evidently pleased his large audience, for it gave him frequent applause. "Labor has for years knocked at the door of the legislature, but in vain. At every election the Machine has held out promises which it had no intention of keeping, and Labor has trusted in the promises again and again only to discover that the Gang had made use of the labor vote only to betray it. What has labor to expect of a Machine that is dominated by the Pennsylvania railroad and the Standard Oil Co.?)" And so forth and so forth after the usual style of the campaign orator who is trying to smash "the machine." He promised that if elected he would try tn purge the statute books of bad laws and added, "of one thing you may be sure—prison doors shall yawn for every thief and grafter discovered in the public service. And, I promise you, that no executive pardon shall save one guilty rascal from wearing prison stripes." He also spoke on taxation and the necessity of putting the school tax entirely on the state treasury direct.

Speeches were also made by Mr. Mapes, the secretary of the Lincoln State comittee, and by candidates Black and Creasy.

The Lincoln County Convention.

At about 2 o'clock the Lincoln Republicans held their County convention in Elebree's Opera House for the purpose of naming a local ticket as far as was deemed expedient.

There was quite an attendance and the convention showed its good sense by endorsing the Republican candidates for the legislature—Messrs. Messrs. Moscrip and Stevens, and Charles Scott, of Liberty Corners, the Republican candidate for jury commissioner.

As to congress no nomination nor any endorsement of any nomination was made. It was quite generally talked before the convention that George W. Kipp of Towanda, whose nomination by the Democrats of this district was foreshadowed by the action of the recent Democratic County convention, would be endorsed. Other counsels prevailed, however, and the convention rested from its labors by empowering the County Chairman, J. L. Dyer, of Athens, to name conferees who shall meet for consultation with the conferees of the other counties in the district.

There was quite a delegation up from Towanda. It was made up in part of the following: Sheriff Griffin, J. Monroe Ayers, Miles Horton, W. J. Young, C. L. Tracy, G. M. Clark, D. C. DeWitt, Hon. J. K. Newell, H. W. McCraney, D. J. Sweet, Ed. Carter, Jr., B. T. Hale, C. M. Heverly, and M. M. Spalding.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Patterns For an Attractive Shirt Waist Dress by Martha Dean—Nos. 6723 and 6724.

Every season of the year finds its quota of shirt waist dresses of some description or other, so useful and becoming an article of dress have they proved to be. Not the least attractive among the new season's gowns are these same frocks, and one is sketched which may offer a suggestion to the home sewer. The blouse has a deep plastron yoke, which is so becoming to the majority of women, while the skirt is a seven gored tucked one finished at the bottom with two deep tucks and of excellent shaping. A silk with large dots was used for the dress, with yoke of plain tucked material and bands of gray to match the dot. The sleeves may be long or end at the elbow as shown. Any of the soft worsteds or mohair might develop the dress, while a great variety of trimmings might serve. The medium size calls for fourteen and one-eighth yards of twenty-seven inch material for the dress. Two patterns—No. 6723, sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure; No. 6724, sizes, 20 to 34 inches waist.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 20 cents to this office, give numbers of these patterns, Nos. 6723 and 6724, and state sizes desired. They will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Pattern For Lady's French Nightgown Designed by Martha Dean—No. 6712.

Some of the most dainty effects have been realized in nightdresses which slip on over the head, as no opening interrupts the scheme of adornment and the neck can be drawn in to suit the wearer. A charming little gown of this kind is pictured. The fullness of the front is regulated at the neck edge by a ribbon drawn through eyelets or a beading. The back has a yoke to which the skirt part is gathered, while the sleeves are loose and very graceful. These might be drawn in with ribbon also if desired. A fine nainsook or longcloth may serve as material, of which five and a half yards are needed. No. 6712, sizes, 32, 36, 40 and 44 inches bust measure.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 10 cents to this office, give number of this pattern, No. 6712, and state size desired. It will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

PECULIAR RAILROAD CASE.

Lehigh Valley and Mack S. Sickler Differ on Return Ticket.

Mack S. Sickler and wife, of Waverly, were arrested as they came to Sayre on Tuesday evening of last week on train No. 127 on the charge of illegal train riding. Some time ago they purchased tickets from Waverly to Towanda and return and Tuesday they wanted to return and went to East Towanda to board the train. The conductor, W. W. Woodward, demanded six cents extra fare from each of them, the price of the ride from East Towanda to Towanda station, and they refused to pay.

He accordingly sent a message to Sayre, and on the arrival of the train Police Officer Vogel and Lehigh Valley Detective Johnson were at the station to meet them. They were taken before Justice Carey and he tried to effect a settlement of the case, but without avail. Mr. Sickler took counsel with Attorney Maxwell of Towanda, and Attorney Yocum of Sayre. He gave bail in the sum of $100 and will be given a hearing on Friday afternoon.

While he was being detained at the justice's office the officers of the railroad company were busy getting a special train to take them to Waverly, and thus complete their part of the contract. Mr. Sickler, on advice of his counsel, refused this service, and states that the railroad company will be made the defendant in a suit for damages. The case is a most unusual one and involves many legal questions.

Leper Car Not Burned.

The Lehigh Valley "leper" car is still in the Sayre yards, notwithstanding the reports that it was burned. Saturday D. Kline, president of the board of health, called upon Supt. Kinney, and that official told him that he had assurance from the higher officials that the car had been properly fumigated before it was delivered to the Lehigh Valley. Saturday a Record representative interviewed Mr. Kinney on the subject and was informed by him that proper disposition would be made of the car, and that the residents of Sayre need not become alarmed. He also said that if the car had not been properly fumigated it would not have been allowed to leave Parkersburg. When the rumor that the car had been painted and renumbered was called to his attention, Mr. Kinney would neither affirm or deny. —Valley Record.

Aged Woman Injured.

Mrs. Ann Lewis of LeRoy, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. D. Minard since Saturday, met with a painful accident by falling on the concrete walk in front of the Enterprise office at about 8:20 Tuesday evening. Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Minard had been spending the afternoon with Mrs. C. S. Holcombe and were returning to the Minard home. As they were descending the last step to the walk the former made a misstep and fell, fracturing both arms at the wrist. Though painfully injured she walked to the home of Mrs. Minard where Dr. Rockwell attended to her injuries. She survived the shock remarkably well and friends hope for her a rapid recovery.—Monroeton Enterprise.

Pretty Fruit Luncheon.

Mrs. Jarvis gave a very unique fruit luncheon Saturday for her granddaughter, Miss Elsie McLean and her friend Miss White of Washington, D. C. The table was artistically decorated with a center-piece of fruit and bowls of the same were at the four corners. A grape vine from which hung tiny bunches of grapes, turned gracefully around the chandelier. The idea was further carried out with place card shaving garlands of fruits upon them, favors of wax fruit and the luncheon as far as possible was served in fruits.

Alligator in the Susquehanna.

A six-foot alligator is at large in West Berwick and school children and others have been notified to be on the lookout for it. The animal was brought from Florida by O. F. Ferris and escaped from the pen in which it was kept. The alligator is large enough to be dangerous and it is believed that its instinct has caused it to go to the river. The boys will now give up bathing in the Susquehanna until it has been captured or killed.

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

But even this grand old medicine cannot do its best work if the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. For the best possible results, you should take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills while taking the Sarsaparilla.

FORMER MAIL MAN STABBED TO DEATH.

Hiram Bushnell, One of Towanda's First Carriers, Meets Foul Play.

Because he tried to help a drunken man to rise from the gutter and save him from arrest in Philadelphia, Hiram Bushnell, formerly of Towanda, and one of the first mail carriers in the borough, was fatally stabbed last Friday night. Bushnell was on his way home, when he was so brutally assailed in return for his kind act. Shortly after midnight he died in the Presbyterian hospital, and his alleged assailant, William J. Carter, 65 years old, was committed to prison by Magisate Boyle to await the action of the coroner.

Carter was lying in the street at 46th street and Fairmount avenue, when Bushnell came along and tried to arouse him. The intoxicated man became angry, and staggering to his feet is said to have drawn a dirk from his pocket and stabbed his would-be friend in the left breast. Suddenly realizing what he had done, he sobered instantly and started to run.

William See, 4704 Fairmount avenue, seized Carter, but could not hold him. The latter broke and fled, with See at his heels, but only to run into the arms of two policemen of the 39th street and Lancaster avenue station

AMZI VANAUKEN DROWNED.

Death Angel Calls Aged Fisherman When Alone in His Boat.

While sitting alone in his fishing boat, Sunday afternoon, Amzi VanAuken, aged 70 years, of Wyalusing fell dead and the body was found by Albert Savage at about 4 o'clock. Justice Smith was notified but no inquest was deemed necessary.

VanAuken, who lived with his daughter, spent much of his time on the river fishing. He was known all along the river for miles up and down. This Summer the old man has not felt in his usual health and has complained several times of pains in his head. It is believed that as he sat in his boat yesterday, he sustained a paralytic stroke, and fell into the water, for when the body was discovered, his head was out of the boat, which was fastened to Donovan's landing. Besides his wife, he is survived by a brother, a daughter in Wilkes-Barre, and a son in Buffalo. Funeral services were held Wednesday, at 10 o'clock, from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Winn, at Wyalusing, with whom he lived.

MAY LOSE HIS LEG.

Child of Henry Drake Cut by Father's Mower By Sad Accident.

Because he was so small that the tall weeds hid him from view, Willie Drake, aged two years and six months, was run over by a mowing machine driven by his father, Henry Drake. The blades of the machine lacerated the child's left leg so fearfully that amputation may be necessary.

Farmer Drake lives in East Towanda, and went Thursday to mow down weeds in a field back of the fair grounds. He took his little child with him, and lost sight of the toddler for a few moments. A scream and spurting of blood caused Drake to pull up his team and jump from the mower, and there lying in the grass was the baby. The little fellow was brought to Dr. T. Ben Johnson's office, where the wound was dressed and the patient sent at once to the Packer hospital on train 7.

Troy Fair, Sept. 11-14.

Last year there was presented to those who attended the Troy Fair one of the finest exhibitions of base ball ever seen on a ball diamond. This year there is to be a contest that it is hoped will be equally as good. The Troy base ball team has been playing wonderful ball for ten weeks, defeating almost everything they have played with. They are to play three games at the Troy fair against the Mansfied baseball team for a purse of $300 and the championship of Bradford and Tioga counties. Mansfield has never been known to lay down except last year when an irresponsible party agreed to put on a team one day and never came himself or sent any men. This year's contract is made with Mr. Herbert Goodall, a man of reputation in his community and one of the best known base ball men in Tioga county. He guarantees to bring with him a team that will make the Troy team hunt the tall timber. Remember they play three games, one each afternoon. If you are a lover of base ball you will want to be there.

Among the guests attending the wedding at Owego, Saturday of Percy L. Lang of Waverly, and Mrs. Louise King of Owego, the following persons, well known in Towanda, were present: Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Lyford, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Lyford, Mr. and Mrs. Hall and son, Percy L. Lang, Jr., of Waverly; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barcley, Mr. and Mrs. George Barcley of Simamahoning; Mr. and Mrs. Watson L. An engagement of interest to Towanda people is that of Miss Alice Hitchcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hitchcock of Syracuse, and Joseph A. Head, son of Arthur Head of Towanda. Both the young people are students of Syracuse university, Mr. Head being in the medical department; Miss Hitchcock will graduate this year.

REUNION OF "BUCKTAILS."

Twentieth Annual Reunion to Be Held at Driftwood Sept. 14 and 15.

The survivors of the First Rifle regiment, Pa. Vols., known as the original "Bucktails," propose to make their twentiteh annual reunion a memorable event. It will be held at Driftwood, Cameron county, on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 14 and 15. Of the 236 surviving "Bucktails," who are scattered throughout the length and breadth of the United States, it is expected that 100 will attend. Their families and honorary members of the association who will accompany them will probably swell the total number to those attending the convention to about 500. The program is very elaborate.

the adoption of the buck's tail as an emblem made the regiment famous at once, but the sturdy sons of Northern Pennsylvania won distinction early in the war as good shots and brave fighters. The Rebels knew and feared the onslaught of the Bucktails.

During the war the regiment had five colonels commanding at different times, one of whom was Charles Frederick Taylor of Kennett .square, a brother of Bayard Taylor. Colonel Taylor met his death while leading his men over Round Top, Gettysburg, and it is said was the youngest colonel to ever meet death in the service of the United States. When shot down he was only a little over 23 years of age. He had entered the regiment as an officer of one of the companies and had steadily been promoted for bravery and efficiency until he became its head.

As an illustration of the desperate fighting the "Bucktails" did, out of 1,165 men who enlisted the total killed, wounded and captured during the conflict was 843.

Colonel E. A. Ervin, treasurer of the association, is the only surviving line officer of the regiment.

CROOKED BRIDGE BURNED.

Fire Put the S. & N. Y. Railroad Temporarily Out of Business.

The famous crooked bridge on the S. & N. Y. railroad near Long Valley, was entirely destroyed by a fire of unknown origin on Thursday night. Friday and Saturday passengers were transferred at that point and an irregular passenger schedule over the line to Ralston maintained. The bridge was a heavy wooden structure about 70 feet long and had a decided crook near the middle, the Southern span turning to the right at a decided angle. In the big flood of December, 1895, when the old Barclay railroad was so nearly obliterated, this bridge was washed out. When the road was rehabilitated by the S. & N. Y. company it was rebuilt on nearly the original lines.

Early Friday morning the entire available force of the road's carpenters were put to work building a temporary crossing, and material was quickly rushed to the spot. Temporary repairs were finished so that trains were put across Sunday afternoon.

New Bridge in Terry.

The report of the viewers appointed some days ago to inspect the bridge in Terry township, spanning Sugar Run, have filed their report and been released. Their judgment is that the bridge is a necessity and that the expense required to make the proper sort of bridge is too great to be born by the township, recommending that it be made a county bridge. Also that the structure be lengthened to 50 feet. The viewers were Messrs. F. P. Bull, G. M. Lyon and George T. Ingham.

Bridge for Litchfield.

The following report was Tuesday submitted by the commission of viewers appointed some time ago:

In re a proposed bridge over Hunt's Creek in Litchfield towsnhip. Viewers find said bridge necessary but that the erecting of such bridge would not be attended with more expense than it is reasonable the township should bear. Nathan F. Walker, Bradley Kinney, C. N. Beers, viewers.

Four Big Days at Owego.

The Tioga county fair will be held at Owego, N. Y., Sept. 11 to 14 inclusive. The purses in the trotting races amount to $1,450. The special attractions, in addition to the base ball games, are trained dogs, jugglers, contortionists; triple bar, cannon ball, and revolving ladder performers, and comedy acrobats.

Sayre Man at Wilkes-Barre.

Frank Tucker, who was assistant superintendent of the Lehigh Valley boiler shops at Sayre, has resigned his position and is now employed in the Vulcan Iron works in Wilkes-Barre. Mr. Tucker was presented with a valuable gold watch by his former fellow workmen at Sayre.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingredients and does not heat or inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it. ONE DOLLAR a Bottle. Bear in mind the name and address: Dr. David KENNEDY, Rondout, New York.

MORSE—BALLARD WEDDING WAS BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

Two Prominent Western Bradford Families Were United.

In the presence of 120 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laertes J. Ballard, in Troy, on Thursday evening, their daughter, Katherine, became the bride of Hon. Willard D. Morse. The color scheme of green and white was carried out entirely by hydrangeas and potted maiden hair fern. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Ballard, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Morse, of Franklin, Pa., and groom's parents, the groom's brother, Andrew Morse and wife, of Franklin, Pa., Dr. and Mrs. M. B. Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stiles, of Philadelphia, the bride's brother and sister, and Miss Lena Sadler, of Syracuse, cousin of the bride. The orchestra played a delightful program, and Miss Laura Wheeler sweetly sang "Still Wieder Nacht," by Karl Bahn, preceding the ceremony.

The bridal party descended the stairs as the strains of Lohengrin were sounded and advanced to the bay window of the reception room, which was a veritable bower of hydrangeas. First came the ribbon bearers, Master Frederick Pomeroy and Master John Parke, followed by the little nieces of the bride, Miss Katherine Stiles, of Philadelphia, and Miss Helen Ballard, of Troy. They wore dainty frocks of dotted Swiss and Valenciennes and carried white sweet pears. Master Arthur Stiles, Jr., of Philadelphia, acted as page and preceded the bride and groom who were met by the Rev. A. E. Hall, pastor of the M. E. church, who performed the impressive ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of Irish lace en train and carried a bouquet of asparagus fern, tied with white ribbon. At the conclusion of the ceremony, a six course wedding supper was served by St. Paul's guild. The bride's table, where 11 intimate friends were seated, was graced with smilax, and the center piece was of Queen Ann's lace and asparagus fern, while silver candlesticks held green and white candles. The favors to the small attendants were boxes of Huyler's. The guests were seated at small tables on the spacious porches. The gift room held a large assortment of beautiful and rare gifts, among which was a handsome case of silver from John Wanamaker, Philadeuphia, who is a personal friend of the family. The bride's going away gown was navy blue Rajah, with hat to match.

COAL PRICE WILL REMAIN THE SAME.

Anthracite Companies So Announce, Unless Unforseen Measures Arise.

The anthracite coal companies have notified the coal dealers that the line and tide prices have attained the circular rates and from now on would remain the same unless something unforseen arises, until next April.

In a way these prices do not affect the price of coal here, but the maintenance of the rates helps to increase the pay of the mine employes, for increases means more from the sliding scale arrangement.

It is always the custom of the coal companies to reduce the rates on April 1, but this year no direct or indirect promises has been made for the operators believe that the conditions in and about the coal mines are peculiar and it would be unwise to make any promises six months in advance. However, if the normal conditions exist, the usual rebate may be allowed, April 1, 1907.

FIRE IN WARREN.

Five Years Old Boy Caused the Destruction of a Fine Barn.

A large barn owned by Homer Chaffee, who lives three miles South of Warren Center, was burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon of last week, with all its contents.

Mr. Chaffee had taken charge of a motherless boy, aged about five years. This boy was lighting some papers in the barn. He ignited the hay and the fire spraed so rapidly that everything was burned. The barn was filled with hay, and four acres of oats, a threshing machine, farming tools and other articles were also in the barn. A valuable horse was also burned.

The barn was 80 feet in length. Mr. Chaffee carried an insurance of $1,000 on the barn. The contents were partially insured.

Killed in Runaway.

Mrs. Sarah Benedict of Chemung, N. Y., met with a serious accident last week which resulted fatally. With her cousin, Dr. Robert Murray, and Mrs. Murray, of Nyack, N. Y., who were visiting her, Mrs. Benedict drove over to the home of Charles Hanlon in Ridgebury, to spend the day. On their return when near the foot of the Middaugh hill the horse became unmanageable and started to run. Mrs. Benedict was thrown violently to the ground and sustained three broken ribs.

Dr. Murray was also thrown out, sustaining a fractured rib besides several bad cuts and bruises about the head. Mrs. Murray remained in the wagon until the horse fell down in the road and she was uninjured although suffering severely from nervous shock.

Mammoth Porker.

The 700-pound prize hog, owned by G. W. Shorb, which was shown at the Wilkes-Barre fair, while being loaded on the train at the Jersey Central depot Saturday morning, fell, and was so seriously injured that it had to be killed.

CAN'T ESCAPE HARD WINTER.

Lots of Pennsylvania Dutch Signs Say So, Seriously.

From Allentown comes the information that already the local tree-bark and goose-bone prognosticators are agreed on the fact that the unusual heat of this Summer is going to be followed by a regular old-fashioned hard Winter. Statements are coming in that the corn-husks are much thicker this year than the have been for a long time—"a sure sign of a hard-pan Winter." There will also be an enormous yield of chestnuts, acorns and beechnuts and other fruits of the forests, upon which birds and beasts depend for food during the Winter.

Still another sign of a long and bitter Winter is found in the activity of barn mice. Close observers say these little animals have already begun the work of building their nests, and that they are making them this year unusually cozy and warm. Last year they seemed to give little attention to the building off their Winter homes; but this year they are not only beginning to bind them unusually early, but they are giving remarkable care and attention to their architecture.

MINE STILL BURNS.

Fire in Warrior Run Frightens Residents—Gas Escapes.

Unless something is done to improve the conditions, and subdue the gas, which emerges from the burning mine and the fire is extinguished soon, the little town of Warrior Run, one of the historic places in the Wyoming Valley, will be depopulated.

The situation is getting more and more critical, for gas makes its way out of the cracks in the surface at unexpected places and at the unexpected periods. The people are afraid to light fires in the stoves or light lamps at night, during certain hours, the little town is in complete darkness.

Many of the residents are preparing to move away and the only hope of the town retaining its present population is the immediate extinguishing of the flames and the operation of the colliery.

Wilkes-Barrean at Sheshequin.

B. T. Maxfield of Wilkes-Barre, has been spending the past two weeks at the home of his brother-in-law, S. G. Barner in Sheshequin. Mr. Maxfield lived for a time several years ago in Towanda, and had charge of the manufacture of the bricks used in the Mercur building.

Leaned Out Too Far.

Orin Hudson, a Lehigh Valley engineer, while running his train through the Towanda bridge on Sunday last, bumped his head against one of the pillars, and was obliged to go to the Sayre hospital for treatment.
